As of noon, Aug. 31, the acts for Gator Growl 2015 have been officially released to the public on social media.

T.I., Echosmith and Jana Kramer will all be performing at the festival style even on Friday, Nov. 6, 2015 brought to you by Student Government Production, UF Homecoming and Gator Growl.

This year's talents are sponsored by Student Government Productions. The organization put up more than $160,000 to secure the talent, venue and promotional measures. SGP staff will also be assisting in event promotion throughout the coming months.

"Having three acts this year will make the Gator Growl atmosphere more of a festival style concert compared to just a regular show," Bobby Finigan said, SGP chairman. "Our goal is to sell out this year like we did last year and I believe 17,000 tickets is achievable."

Over the summer, Finigan and Student Body President, Joselin Padron-Rasines met with Gator Growl producer Maddie Daugherty multiple times to determine the talents for this year.

“I hope to see the majority of UF students, faculty, alumni and community members come out to Flavet Field for a memorable experience,” Finigan said.

The door will open at 6 p.m. and the show will start at 7 p.m on Flavet Field. .

Tickets are on sale at gatorgrowl.org for $15 for students and $24 for general admission.
