Purpose: Sparks Magazine, the student-run Asian American interest publication at the University of Florida, was established in 2011 with the purpose of bringing greater representation to the Asian American community. As a student organization, Sparks provides great learning experiences and opportunities within its print and digital platforms. Through both independent and team-based projects, staff members are continuously challenged to deliver and produce quality pieces.

Activities: Through thought-provoking content and shared experiences, Sparks aims to bring into perspective the life of Asian American students locally and nationwide. Most importantly, Sparks strives to strengthen the Asian American community by providing readers with a source of inspiration. They will be giving out their publications at their launch parties, which are open to all students of the University of Florida. Sparks continues to be an advocate for the community, giving Asian American students a voice in today's media and society through its print and online publication.
Proviso: This allocation will exhaust at the end of the fiscal year June 30th 2015
